Ohio state university has introduced an apprentice course in animal husbandry that includes two years' study at the university and two years' practical work on a stock farm. The student in this course spends the first year at the university; the second on a stock farm; the third year at the university again; and the fourth year on another stock farm. The students are paid for their work while on the farm. The plan has interested a number of leading stock men of Ohio and other states, and they are co-operating with the university in carrying it out.

VACATIONS MAKE STOCK EXCHANGE SEASON QUIET

[By Latest Mail]

NEW YORK.—Holiday quiet, Mexican difficulties and damage to cotton and corn from protracted drought naturally lessened activity on the stock exchange. Vacations, however, are nearly over, and the return of many buoyant absentees is likely to stiffen the spirit of hopefulness now developing after almost a year of depression. The main hindrance to further stock market recovery has been the Mexican problem. Perhaps this affair is taken rather more seriously than deserves, for war with Mexico, even were it probable, would not be a very serious matter to the United States, and happily there is little or no chance whatever of such a misfortune. President Wilson and congress are in close accord for preserving peace. Nevertheless, security markets are peculiarly sensitive to troubles of this character, owing to their speculative possibilities. For some time to come, at least until after the new election, Mexican affairs will necessarily be unsettled, and hence a factor of uneasiness here, especially in view of large American investments in that country. It would seem, however, as if the injurious effect of this controversy had been fully discounted in the New York market. The full effects of President Wilson's soothing but firm Mexican message have yet to be seen.

Reports of further damage to cotton and corn had a decidedly dampening effect upon bullish ardor. It is evident that considerable damage has been done to these two important crops, and that the next government report on cotton and other important products will be an unfavorable one, even allowing for the fact that August is almost always a month of agricultural deterioration. Our leading crops not infrequently show a loss of 5 to 6 points in this period, and the crop in cotton in August will exceed the average, estimates ranging 8 to 10 points. The effect of these losses may have exerted its full influence upon both cotton and corn markets, and is now causing a setback to trade in the affected districts; though the states as a whole will not suffer seriously because of good crops and offsets in other directions. Taking crop injuries at their worst, no calamity has occurred, but only a disappointment in early hopes, which will have to be taken into consideration in estimating future operations. Two effects will be, to bring better prices for these staples to growers in other sections and to lessen the demand for money to move crops in the injured districts; also a smaller traffic for the railroads.

July exports amounted to $160,500,000, or $11,700,000 more than a year ago; the increase being mainly in grain and manufactures. Imports, however, were only $139,200,000, $9,400,000 more than a year ago. This left an excess of exports for the month of over $20,000,000, compared with only $200,000 last year and $9,000,000 in 1911. Here is a very satisfactory addition to our credit abroad. Some interesting developments may be expected in our foreign markets during the next few months. Exports should expand because of our bumper wheat crop. Of course, there is steady contraction in meat and mineral oil shipments owing to growing demand and scarcity at home, but this promises to be offset by our steady growth of exports of manufactures, particularly of steel products. The most important influence in our foreign trade, however, for the next few months, will be the tariff, the reduction of which will tend to at least temporarily encourage imports. Quite possibly these will not be as large as expected, as the amount of goods in hand is now unusually heavy. On the other hand, our manufacturers have been energetically adjusting themselves to the new condition; so much so, in fact, that foreign manufacturers show little enthusiasm over our tariff changes, and do not expect to gain any permanent foothold for their wares in this market. On the contrary, many of them, as they see our manufacturers vigorously adjusting themselves to the lower schedules, fear that before long they will be obliged to meet a keener American competition in foreign markets. A few interests may be injured by extreme cuts, but these will be infinitesimal compared with those affected by the stimulus to trade which will follow and which will gratify many thus far not heard from. American skill and enterprise will surely give a first class account of itself in the long run, and tariff scares may now as well be eliminated in business calculations of the future.

The financial undertone shows steady improvement, although the week has been a quiet one and prices wavered. In this, as in all the foreign markets, monetary improvement is steadily progressing. Business is consequently improving, and a decidedly better investment demand is springing up, which is quite as much in evidence in the foreign markets as it has been here. Speculative operations have, of course, been restrained by monetary limitations on both sides of the Atlantic. Just now the markets of the world are unusually sympathetic and in close accord. The demand for new capital though urgent, is still held in abeyance, only the most important needs being satisfied. New issues in August will probably show a decline, and a considerable proportion of those made were devoted to providing for current maturities. Secretary McAdoo's plans for relieving the money market are working out highly satisfactorily. At east and west there is no longer any fear of monetary stringency; and

ENGLISH SOCIETY

KISSES FOR CHARITY

It has become a craze for members of the aristocracy to attend various garden parties arranged for charitable objects and to help rake in the shekels at these beneficent affairs. Needless to say, they leave all their society manners at home, and make up their minds to enter fully into any fun that is going, and to create as much as they possibly can 'themselves'.
Kisses, of course, are a very salable article at such affairs. These fetch all sorts of sums, according to the "face value" of the lady who is selling them or how much a man is prepared to pay for such a thing.
One of the things which impressed Mr. P. Doublyou most of all when he was present at one of these parties the other day was the amount of ragtime dancing which was going on.

COMMERCIAL ITEMS

Demand for stocks failed to continue in New York yesterday and hence there was a general slump from the day before. The market closed firm. Bonds were steady.

Following are the closing quotations for the stocks named in San Francisco yesterday: Hawaiian Commercial, 25.25 bid; Hawaiian Sugar, 25.25 bid; Hutchinson, 15 asked; Onomea, 21.50 bid; Pasahau, 12.50 bid, 14 asked; Union, 19 bid; Amalgamated Oil, 85 bid, 83 asked; Associated Oil, 42.5-8 bid, 43 asked.

trade beyond the Alleghenies, though spotty, is showing general improvement. Both trade and industry show symptoms of revival. Railroad earnings have been more liberal, though traffic at the moment is affected by a tendency to hold grain for higher prices. The most unfavorable features in the situation, aside from Mexico, are reductions of dividends present or prospective in two or three important railroad systems; also delay in the currency bill at Washington. The tariff has already passed beyond the realm of speculation, and the chances are that ultimately Congress will pass a reasonably satisfactory currency bill. The technical position of the market is sound, the floating supply of securities small and the class of buying good. It is noticeable that values are much more sensitive to favorable than to unfavorable news. Considering the good undertone, the chances favor a broader and better market as the Mexican skies are clearing and business is beginning to assume its accustomed autumnal activity. Toward the close of the week the market assumed quite a buoyant tone, with the trend of prices decidedly upward; largely as a result of president Wilson's skillful handling of the Mexican problem.—Henry Clews.

"The school garden movement has shown us one way of solving the child-labor problem," says Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education. "It has proved that children can make things grow, and grow abundantly. A tiny plot 4 by 8 feet, such as a child has in the city farm, grows vegetables enough to supply a family of five with a different vegetable every day for 5 days in the week."
